Grandma's Box of Stories

Every keepsake holds a little love

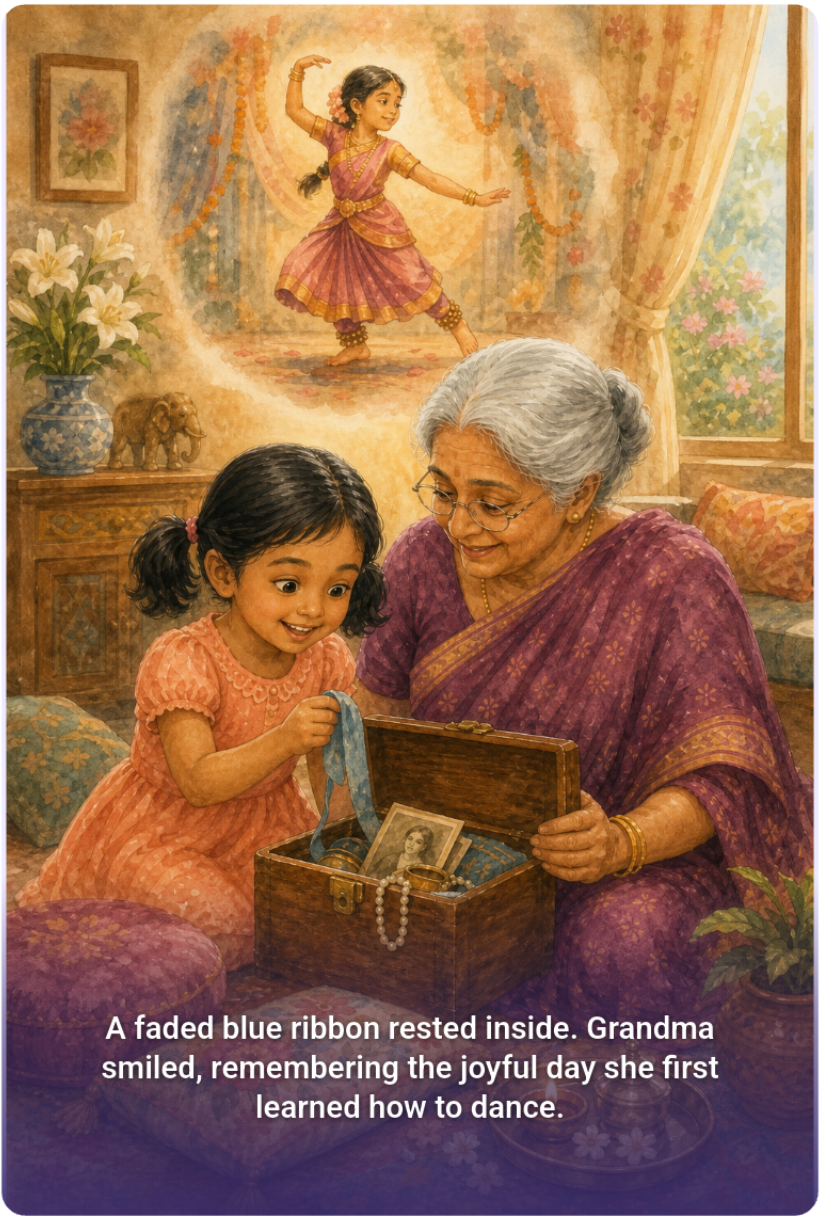

Family Keepsake

Rain tapped on the window as Maya and Grandma Leela opened a dusty wooden box filled with hidden treasures.

Grandma lifted a smooth seashell. Its soft whisper brought back the story of a sunny seaside picnic long ago.

A faded blue ribbon rested inside. Grandma smiled, remembering the joyful day she first learned how to dance.

Next was a tiny wooden top. It spun across the table, bringing back memories of playful games with her brother.

Maya wanted to add her own story. She carefully placed a colorful drawing of the two of them inside.

Treasured memories are like magic. When we share them with the people we love, they just keep growing and growing.
